

Welcome to the sixth issue of CIC Start Online E-News, a monthly overview of the recent and forthcoming activities of the project whose aim is to embed sustainable building design and refurbishment into practice by supporting academic/industry collaboration in developing and testing innovations.

WHOLE-DAY ONLINE EVENT ON SUSTAINABLE REFURBISHMENT ON 4th JUNE 2010

ONLINE EXHIBITION

Exclusive offer to the members of CIC Start Online

CIC Start Online is offering FREE small exhibition booths at the whole-day online exhibition on Sustainable Refurbishment on 4th June 2010 to CIC Start Online members.

A small exhibition booth will contain the following:

1. Your welcome message
2. Products/services for sustainable refurbishment
3. Key people
4. Contact details
5. Website address

All exhibition booths will be available online and can be updated for 12 months following the exhibition.

Do not miss this excellent opportunity to market for FREE your company's products and services for sustainable refurbishment of buildings!

Please click on the following links to see information videos on Exhibition Booths and Exhibition Rooms. More rooms can be added according to the type of the exhibitors' products or services.

If you are a member of CIC Start Online, please click on the following link to create a FREE small online exhibition booth: Booth Editing Tool

You can choose the room in which to exhibit - the system will match your email address to the member directory and automatically create

- (a) a user account for the event
- (b) a small exhibition booth
- (c) your company name and address, contact details, etc., from the existing member directory.

You will then automatically be logged in and presented with the "edit booth" screen, where you can add more information on products or services for sustainable refurbishment and a company logo.

If you are not a member of CIC Start Online or would like to book a large booth which will contain your PDF brochures, videos and 3D animations, please contact admin@cicstart.org.

To register as a member, please access our online Registration page.
